

Councillor expenses for the period 1 October to 31 December 2019

Background

The allowance paid to Councillors is set by the State Government and is currently $ $200,870 for the Lord Mayor, $100,434 for the Deputy Lord Mayor and $47,165 for Councillors. Councillors also receive an additional 9.5% being an amount equivalent to the Superannuation Guarantee.

Significant demands and expectations are placed on Councillors of City of Melbourne in carrying out their civic and statutory functions. In carrying out their policy development, representation and communication roles, Councillors accept a range of responsibilities in representing a capital city government and its community and stakeholders at a local, national and international level.

As part of these responsibilities, Councillors also represent the Council on a range of external organisations and advisory bodies. The demands and level of expectations on Councillors in these roles is significant and varies from organisation to organisation depending on specific structure, purpose and objectives. In some instances, remuneration or fees for services as board members, directors or similar roles on the organisations is offered. These are paid to Council with the exception of those associated with positions gained through a separate election or selection process conducted by an external organisation. In these circumstances, a Councillor may retain the fees.

The Councillor Expenses and Resources Guidelines provide a broad overview of how the Council provides assistance and support to the Lord Mayor, Deputy Lord Mayor and Councillors in carrying out their role and official duties as Councillors.

As part of Council's commitment to open government, Council has resolved that details of Councillor expenses in the following categories be released on a regularly basis and be accessible on the Council's web site.
