

BRENS PAVILION REDEVELOPMENT

Project update

November 2022

Construction of the new Brens Pavilion is progressing well. We removed the roof of the old pavilion and finished pouring the concrete slab and footings.

Over the past fortnight, we continued to install steel and timber framing for the roof and walls of the new pavilion, and started installing vertical concrete panels.

Upcoming works

We will continue installing steel and timber framing before commencing roofing and brickwork.

Pavilions in Royal Park

Brens Pavilion is one of three pavilions in Royal Park to be upgraded by City of Melbourne. Western Pavilion was recently upgraded and has now reopened, and Ryder Pavilion is currently in design with works anticipated to commence in 2023.

Brens Pavilion is being developed by City of Melbourne in partnership with the Victorian Government. The project aligns with Council's major initiative to increase and upgrade accessible, inclusive spaces for women in City of Melbourne sports facilities.
